Example Text

The city was once a mean, grey, dark beast with little joy. Its people lurked in the shadows of the towering buildings. Each building stretched up towards the dark sky and their windows glared down like silent angry eyes. Streets were cracked and dry, coursing with dust instead of life. The sky above was perpetually overcast like a dull, ashen canvas that rarely allowed the sun to pierce through. Fierce winds howled relentlessly. It was once a place which devoured all hope, but now, it is a vibrant paradise. This was all thanks to Raina's promise.
